About Shishu Paramarshan Centre

A child learns primarily thru imitation. A child meticulously observes the behavior of people surrounding it. It would speak and behave, the way its kith and kin speak and behave. If parents and other family members aim at achieving the best child, in that case the family members will have to prepare for that beforehand. For every child, family members should become ideal, especially the parents. The life of the parents, their feelings and their behavior should also be appropriate to receive the best child. The more love and time a mother gives to her child, the more sensitive, intelligent and physically and mentally stronger the child will become.

Tapovan Centers run by Children's University carry out activities for the mother prior to pregnancy and they continue till the child becomes three years old. These activities are as such which divert mother's total focus on her child. A Shishu Paramarshan Centre works in a manner that, even after the birth of the baby, the parents as well as the family can take full care of the baby, get guidance of all aspects pertaining to the infant development and make the right decision about the various complications related to child rearing practices from this centre.
